MESSAGE FROM THE BOARD CHAIR

To the Honourable John Rustad, Minister of Aboriginal Relations and Reconciliation

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the First Peoples' Cultural Council, I am pleased to present our 2013/14 Annual Report.

The First Peoples' Cultural Council (FPCC) was established in 1990 through the First Peoples' Heritage, Language and Culture Act, which was designed to foster the growth of the unique Indigenous languages, arts and cultures in British Columbia. FPCC administers funds to support First Nations people in B.C. to preserve their linguistic and cultural heritage for future generations.

We had a successful and productive year in 2013/14, and are proud of what we achieved over the past 12 months. We continued to deliver language and arts programs that are not only recognized globally but that produce measureable results for B.C. First Nations communities and tangible benefits to the province as a whole. Our staff once again met or exceeded most of the performance targets set for them, working hard to develop and deliver programs and resources that help keep B.C. First Nations arts and languages vital. And our reputation continues to grow, both locally and around the globe.

Yet despite our successes we faced challenges in 2013/14 as well. As is the case every year, we had to stretch our budget and make difficult decisions in order to try to meet the myriad needs for support for language, arts and cultural revitalization across 203 First Nations communities within B.C.

One area that saw a lot of activity and growth last year was our arts programming. With new funding of $205,000 from the BC Arts Council, we introduced a new pilot program to support Aboriginal youth engagement in the arts over two years. By supporting projects that connect youth aged 15-24 with established artists through residencies, community-based workshops and collaborations in any artistic discipline we reach a new target audience, one that is vital to the future of our communities.

We also rolled out the first phase of the $600,000 we received from the Margaret A. Cargill Foundation. These funds were injected into the Aboriginal Arts Development Awards initiative, allowing us to support professional development for Aboriginal artists and arts leaders and managers in B.C. We also will use a portion to enhance our related outreach activities.

The arts department also orchestrated the Cultural Protocols and the Arts Forum, hosted at the En'owkin Centre on the Penticton Indian Reserve on March 3 and 4, 2014. The forum attracted approximately 80 artists, arts leaders and other community stakeholders from across Canada. We are currently developing the final report, as well as accompanying tools recommended by participants.

Our language department saw less growth last year, as the budget remained static and we have as yet been unable to replace previous revenues. However, we continued to optimize our resources by providing training and resources so that communities could further their own language revitalization efforts. Staff traveled into communities to meet with language champions and experts and to provide training workshops for FirstVoices and other FPCC language programs. We renamed the Language Authority and Language Plan Development Program to the Language Revitalization Planning Program and we produced and began implementing the new Guide to Policy and Planning for BC First Nations Communities – a tool that is proving to be useful for communities in all stages of their language work.

We renamed the Master-Apprentice program to Mentor-Apprentice and welcomed 12 brand new teams in 2013/14. And we continue to successfully deliver the Aboriginal Language Initiative (ALI) for the Department of Canadian Heritage.

A highlight in 2013/14 was the FPCC Annual General Meeting (AGM). Perhaps our best ever, last year's AGM was lively and interactive. Using the 'Open Space' format, we invited attendees to share their ideas and lead discussions on topics of interest to communities. In one session, a productive policy discussion resulted, the outcome of which will inform FPCC's own governance moving forward. In addition, we invited artists and language champions we had funded to come to the AGM and share their success stories.

In 2013/14, we saw a decline in consulting revenue. This was due to being unable to successfully implement the partnership project with Tibet due to political issues in China. That said, we still had a strong demand for consulting and continue to work with communities in Alaska, Saskatchewan and Alberta. And we have a huge demand for guidance from communities that are not involved in FPCC programs, and as such have provided training on a cost-recovery basis.

Our reputation continues to grow overall, and we have been able to establish some valuable new partnerships that we expect will bear fruit in the coming years. We signed a Memorandum of Understanding with the Royal BC Museum in early 2013, and for much of last year have worked in partnership with the museum to create Our Living Languages (OLL). A highly interactive exhibition, OLL showcases the First Nations languages of B.C. and the people working hard to revitalize them. We are also partnering with the University of Victoria on two new research projects: one studying the impact of cultural programming on youth, and the other looking to develop language proficiency testing to create best practices for the Mentor-Apprentice program.

We ended the year with a balanced budget on expenditures of $4,098,000. The Auditor's Report is unqualified and financial statements are considered to fairly represent the financial position and operations of the First Peoples' Cultural Council for the year. There were a couple of significant variances from the budget. The Arts department received an increase of $205,000 from the BC Arts Council for a new Arts Program for youth that was announced later in the fiscal year. And FPCC developed two special projects this year, the "Cultural Protocols in the Arts Forum" and the "Our Living Languages Exhibit". These projects increased purchased services by $93,000.00.

Looking forward, we are excited for the OLL exhibition to open in June, 2014 for the start of its three-year run. In 2014/15, we intend to update the Status of B.C. First Nations Languages report, initially published in 2010. The update will not only provide insight into the progress made in language revitalization, but will also give us the information we need to make decisions around language priorities and also to approach funders for additional support to meet the most critical needs.

Of course we also look forward to continuing to support the efforts of the many language and arts champions around the province with whom we have worked in partnership over the past two decades. At this critical juncture, we hope that we can capitalize on the momentum of the past few years and garner the ongoing support we need to achieve our vision of thriving First Nations languages and cultures in B.C.

KÚKWSTUMCKACW,

Lorna Williams
Chair of the Board of Directors

PROGRAMS WE DELIVER

Language Programs

The B.C. Language Initiative (BCLI)

Supports projects to revitalize B.C. First Nations languages through documentation, immersion programs and material and curriculum development. First Nations communities and organizations are eligible to submit proposals. Note: the First Citizens' Fund (through the Ministry of Aboriginal Relations and Reconciliation) provides a key source of operating/ administrative dollars for FPCC.

Aboriginal Languages Initiative (ALI)

Funds support community and regional projects that maintain, revitalize and promote Aboriginal languages (funded by the Department of Canadian Heritage).

Language Immersion Programs

In 2007, the New Relationship Trust (NRT) and the Ministry of Aboriginal Relations and Reconciliation (MARR) committed to providing three years of annual funding for the development of four pilot language programs to meet priorities identified by First Nations language stakeholders. FPCC committed to funding the immersion projects in a second three-year cycle beginning in 2010/11 in order to build capacity and provide support in a graduated process that has been proven to create fluent speakers. The programs are:

Language Revitalization Planning Program¹

Communities that speak the same language or dialects of the same language come together to create long-term language revitalization plans, share resources and serve as the decision-making bodies for their language and dialects.

Pre-School Language Nests

In these childcare environments, children aged 0–5 communicate only in their ancestral language to foster a new generation of fluent speakers. Parents are encouraged to participate and use the language in their homes.

Language and Culture Immersion Camps

Community members host culture and language immersion activities on the land for First Nations families, Elders, youth and children. Camps are based on traditional cultural activities and include multi-generational gatherings and language and culture immersion. Please note: this program is on hold until new funds are identified to reinstate it.

The Mentor-Apprentice Program²

This program pairs a committed language learner (the apprentice) with a fluent speaker (the mentor) for 300 hours a year of complete language immersion.

Note: All language program participants are selected through a juried peer review committee of B.C. First Nations language experts.

FirstVoices

An internationally recognized online Indigenous language documentation and teaching resource. FirstVoices provides state-of-the-art technologies, training and technical support to community language champions. For information, visit www.firstvoices.com

FirstVoices projects include:

FirstVoices Language Tutor – provides First Nations language students with access to graduated interactive Web-based vocabulary and conversation building exercises. The application keeps track of student progress for both student and teacher.

FirstVoices Language Lab – an iPad-based language-teaching app designed to deliver FirstVoices Language Tutor lesson content via a stand-alone portable language laboratory. No internet access is required for the Language Lab to run.

FirstVoices Mobile Apps – 12 interactive dictionary/phrase apps for the iPod, iPad and iPhone, with 5 more on the way. The apps contain text, audio, image and video content and are available as free downloads from the iTunes store.

FirstVoices Chat – an Indigenous language texting app for Facebook Chat and Google Talk. The free app for the iPad, iTouch and iPhone is available at the Apple App Store. FirstVoices Chat provides custom keypads capable of texting in over 100 Indigenous languages in Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the USA.

¹ Formerly called the Language Authority and Language Plan Development Program.

² This program, previously called Master-Apprentice, changed its name to Mentor-Apprentice in 2013/14.

Endangered Languages Project

In 2011, Google.org contacted FPCC to request the organization's participation in a global initiative to create an online collaborative network for language champions around the world. After much consideration, First Peoples' decided to participate in this opportunity to raise the profile of language revitalization on a worldwide scale and to contribute to language work via information sharing. We became one of four founding partners of the project, and the website at endangeredlanguages.com was launched, with our input, in June 2012.

FPCC continues to guide the development of the site, which contains information on 3,170 Indigenous and other at-risk languages. Now that the site is live, a governance council, comprised of language revitalization experts from around the world, guides its development. FPCC retains key roles, chairing the governance council and leading outreach efforts for the project.

The Aboriginal Arts Development Awards (AADA)

are distributed to projects in four categories:

Individual – supports the creative or professional development of emerging Aboriginal artists working in any artistic discipline

Organization – supports either the capacity development of an arts organization, a specific project that the organization would not be able to undertake otherwise or a combination of both options

Sharing Traditional Arts Across Generations – supports the transmission of traditional artistic practices from one generation to another, often through a mentorship program or other form of training

Aboriginal Arts Administrator and Cultural Manager Internships – helps place an aspiring arts administrator in an internship position with an established organization or in a mentorship program

NOTE: All arts grant recipients are chosen by a juried peer review committee of established artists and arts administrators.

Aboriginal Youth Engaged in the Arts

Launched in 2013, this new pilot project supports community-based initiatives that connect youth aged 15-24 with established artists through residencies, community-based workshops and collaborations in any artistic discipline. Priority is given to projects that implement new, targeted youth engagement arts activities, especially in underserved, often remote reserve communities. If successful, and if funding can be sustained for this initiative, it will be continued as an annual initiative.

CORPORATE GOVERNANCE

OVERVIEW

The First Peoples' Cultural Council is governed by a Board of Directors comprised of up to 13 members. The work of the Board is further supported by three sub-committees: the Governance Committee, the Finance and Audit Committee and the HR and Compensation Committee. In addition, the Board is supported by a 34-member Advisory Committee, with one representative for each of the First Nations language groups in B.C. Both Board and Advisory Committee members serve a term of two years. Board members can serve a maximum of three terms; there is no limit to the number of terms an Advisory Committee member can serve.

CHANGES TO GOVERNING LEGISLATION AND SELECTION PROCESS

Our governing legislation was amended so that we can include representation from all B.C. First Nations language groups on our Advisory Committee and to meet modern best practices for Crown corporations. As a result, each language group is able to have a cultural representative to provide advice to the First Peoples' Cultural Council's Board and staff.

Membership on both the Advisory Committee and the Board of Directors are sought through an open application process, which was developed in May 2011 and is now managed by the Board's Governance Committee. This process is a departure from the previous selection process, whereby Advisory Committee members were nominated by B.C. Tribal Councils.

This open application process means that any B.C. First Nations individual, organization or community can nominate someone or apply for membership. The Advisory Committee and Board members will be recommended by the Governance Committee, while the Minister of Aboriginal Relations and Reconciliation will continue to approve all Board appointments.

The First Peoples' Cultural Council complies with the 12 disclosure requirements of the Best Practices Guidelines on Governance and Disclosure published by the Board Resourcing and Development Office. Please see the governance section of our website and download our Board Policies and Procedures Manual: www.fpcc.ca/about-us/governance.

GOVERNANCE PRINCIPLES

The First Peoples' Cultural Council follows the B.C. government's guiding principles on corporate governance for Crown agencies. Our Government's Letter of Expectations describes mandate, expectations, roles, responsibilities and accountabilities.

Governance policies for the First Peoples' Cultural Council are reviewed annually to ensure that they continue to meet the needs of the Council and are consistent with the government's guiding principles on Crown agency governance.

REPORT ON PERFORMANCE

NOTES FOR ALL GOALS: Management strives to ensure information is accurate and unbiased by using internal tracking systems and consulting with outside experts. Where possible, using available resources, program evaluations are undertaken.

GOAL 1

To provide programs and resources to support B.C. First Nations communities in realizing their visions for the revitalization of their arts, culture and languages—so that the wealth of B.C. First Nations arts, culture and languages are preserved, accessible, recognized and valued.

STRATEGIES

- Support B.C. First Nations communities to mobilize around the revitalization of their arts, cultures and languages
- Deliver arts, culture and language funding to B.C. First Nations communities and organizations
- Develop and distribute effective community development tools and resources to build community capacity and to help B.C. First Nations communities develop and implement long-term plans and programming for arts, culture and language revitalization
- Use technology to archive all B.C. First Nations languages and create new tools and programming for arts, culture and language revitalization

DISCUSSION OF GOAL AND STRATEGIES

Providing programs and resources to B.C. First Nations to assist them to revitalize their language and culture is an essential part of our mandate. Therefore, this goal, and its accompanying strategies and performance measures are the most basic means of assessing our performance.

1.1 Number of arts projects funded

PAST PERFORMANCE		2013/14 PERFORMANCE		FUTURE PERFORMANCE
2011/12	2012/13	TARGET	ACTUAL	2014/15	2015/16
56	52	60	65	60	60

DISCUSSION

We use the number of arts projects funded as a performance target because it is the most basic way to monitor our support of Aboriginal artists in B.C. At the time of writing of the 2013/14 Strategic Plan, we set modest targets based on confirmed funding. We were able to attract new funding for arts programming. In 2013/14 we rolled out new funds from the Margaret Cargill Foundation, which allowed us to exceed targets in this area.

This year, we received 102 Aboriginal Arts Development Awards (AADA) applications, requesting a total of $1,282,680. Of the 102 applications, the impartial adjudication committee (made up of established artists in various fields and from diverse regions in B.C.) selected 65 projects to be awarded an AADA. The total amount distributed was $758,250. Here are the specifics:

CATEGORY	# OF APPLICANTS	TOTAL REQUESTED	# OF SUCCESSFUL APPLICANTS	TOTAL AWARDED	FUNDING PARTNER
Individual	49	$240,675	30	$147,225	BC Arts Council
Sharing Traditional Arts	16	$181,600	12	$135,200	BC Arts Council ($33,525); NRT ($71,675); MACF ($30,000)
Organizations and Collectives	27	$583,240	20	$387,180	MACF
Arts Administrator Internships	10	$277,165	3	$88,645	BC Arts Council ($9,322); NRT ($70,000); MACF ($9,323)
TOTAL	102	$1,282,680	65	$758,250

Further information about the successful AADA applications can be found in Appendix 1. The data for this measure is provided by the arts department's database.

1.2 Number of language/culture projects funded

PAST PERFORMANCE		2013/14 PERFORMANCE		FUTURE PERFORMANCE
2011/12	2012/13	TARGET	ACTUAL	2014/15	2015/16
78	65	55	72	55	55

DISCUSSION

As with performance measure 1.1, monitoring the numbers of language/culture projects we fund demonstrates our ability to support language immersion programs in B.C.

Due to fluctuations in annual funding, it has been challenging to come up with solid targets for this measure. We were unable to meet our target in 2012/13 due to reductions in funding from the Ministry of Aboriginal Relations and Reconciliation and the New Relationship Trust. We subsequently reduced the target to 55, but in 2013/14 we were able to exceed it significantly due to creative use of resources by language program staff. We will be reviewing the performance targets for this measure in the next Service Plan.

Here are the specifics of the program for this fiscal year:

CATEGORY	# OF APPLICANTS	TOTAL REQUESTED	# OF SUCCESSFUL APPLICANTS	TOTAL AWARDED	FUNDING PARTNER
B.C. Language Initiative	43	$665,082	13	$187,601	MARR ($37,602); NRT ($150,000)
Aboriginal Languages Initiative	30	$1,008,139	22	$720,960 approved ($648,864 distributed)	Canadian Heritage
Pre-school Language Nests	10	Multi-year program	10	$200,000	First Peoples' Cultural Foundation

1.3 Percentage of B.C. First Nations languages and dialects archived on FirstVoices

PAST PERFORMANCE		2013/14 PERFORMANCE		FUTURE PERFORMANCE
2011/12	2012/13	TARGET	ACTUAL	2014/15	2015/16
7.3%	8.12%	7.5%	8.7%	7.6%	7.7%

DISCUSSION

The percentage of B.C. First Nations languages and dialects archived on FirstVoices is an important indicator of how much is left to do before we can consider the First Nations languages of B.C. completely archived.

To calculate the percentage of B.C. First Nations languages and dialects archived, we multiply the average words in a language's lexicon by the 34 First Nations languages and 61 dialects in B.C. and then compare the number of entries archived at FirstVoices.com to that total.³

As of April 29, 2014, we have a total of 59,349 words and 30,852 phrases archived at FirstVoices.com, representing 8.7% of the 1,220,000 words and phrases that are required to complete the archives.

Performance targets have been maintained at a nominal increase of 0.1% per year, or 1,220 entries, to reflect budgetary uncertainties and recent decreases in funding for FirstVoices.com. However, as more communities gain web access and proficiency, we have been making advances in archiving and thus exceeded targets for the past two years. We will revisit targets in the upcoming Service Plan to reflect both the current status and projected rates.

The data for this measure is provided by the FirstVoices.com website database.

³ This formula uses an average lexicon of 20,000 words and phrases per language. This a number generally accepted by linguists to constitute a solid documentation effort, but may not represent each First Nations language exactly.

1.4 New FPCC resources to support language and arts projects

PAST PERFORMANCE		2013/14 PERFORMANCE		FUTURE PERFORMANCE
2011/12	2012/13	TARGET	ACTUAL	2014/15	2015/16
25	32	10	10	10	10

DISCUSSION

The work First Nations communities are undertaking to revitalize their arts, culture and languages is challenging and complex. And while funding support is critical for the success of these community initiatives, communities also need the guidance of experts and access to information and technologies to support their efforts. Accordingly, and in addition to direct funding, each year the First Peoples' Cultural Council creates and distributes a number of resources that support communities in their revitalization efforts.

We exceeded our targets significantly in 2011/12 and 2012/13; however, in the 2012/13 Service Plan, a decision was made to keep the targets for future years relatively low and stable (10 for the next three years) with the idea that with a small staff we could more realistically produce materials at a pace that would not increase dramatically from year to year.

In 2013/14 we met our target with efforts focused on language archives as well as two new language handbooks.

The Language Program team produced one resource in 2013–2014:

- Language Revitalization Planning Program: FPCC created a handbook for the program

The FirstVoices team facilitated/produced nine new resources over the past year:

- Language Tutors: FPCC produced Language Tutors for eight languages, each containing a minimum of 10 language lessons. Languages were: SHUSWAP, CARRIER SEKANI, SECWEPENC (ESKÉT), GITSENMIK, HESQUIAHT, SECWEPENC (SPI7UYSQUQLUTS), SECWEPENC (SIMPCW), HALQ'EMEYLEM (TSAWWASSEN)
- Ibook and First Voices Stories: FPCC produced one ibook & FirstVoices stories resource (Kwakwiltl)

The data for this measure is provided by the arts, language and FirstVoices department manager.

GOAL 2

To communicate effectively about the work of the First Peoples' Cultural Council to ensure it is seen as the go-to organization for government, First Nations leadership and the public for information, services and advice related to B.C. First Nations arts, culture and language issues.

STRATEGIES

- Promote and celebrate First Nations languages, arts and culture in B.C.
- Raise awareness about the current state of B.C. First Nations arts, culture and languages
- Inform B.C. First Nations communities, government and other key stakeholders about FPCC's programs, services, resources and partnership opportunities
- Expand our network of language champions, both within B.C. and globally

DISCUSSION OF GOAL AND STRATEGIES

The success of FPCC is based on the First Nations communities and individuals who apply for program funding and archive their languages at FirstVoices.com, on the trust and support of funders and First Nations leadership and on all who look to us for information and advice on B.C. First Nations languages and culture. The measures we have chosen for this goal reflect the importance of being a recognizable and respected organization with an online presence and targeted list of contacts who support our work and who can have an impact on our mandate.

2.1 Re-branding to increase awareness of organization

PAST PERFORMANCE		2013/14 PERFORMANCE		FUTURE PERFORMANCE
2011/12	2012/13	TARGET	ACTUAL	2014/15	2015/16
In progress: roll out new identity; develop tracking tools	Rebrand complete	N/A – discontinue measure	N/A – discontinue measure	N/A – discontinue measure	N/A – discontinue measure

DISCUSSION

The rebrand process is now complete, with our new brand successfully launched in May 2012 and subsequent communications to promote awareness of the brand also completed. This measure will be discontinued in future Service Plans and Annual Reports.

2.2 Number of communications contacts

PAST PERFORMANCE		2013/14 PERFORMANCE		FUTURE PERFORMANCE
2011/12	2012/13	TARGET	ACTUAL	2014/15	2015/16
4,749	5,463	4,100	8,288	4,200	4,300

DISCUSSION

Our communications contact list continues to grow. It includes individuals from government, the private sector, First Nations leadership, academics and artists, as well as many from a variety of backgrounds who follow us through social media channels. Our list of communications contacts includes (accurate as of April 25, 2014):

- 300 national arts administrators
- 36 B.C. and national arts administrators
- 46 FirstVoices administrators
- 74 Arts Map entries
- 17 Endangered Languages Project Governance Council members
- 6,621 Twitter followers (an increase of 2,248 from last year)⁴
- 907 Facebook Followers (an increase of 365 from last year)⁵
- 205 First Nations communities/Bands
- 234 electronic distribution contacts
- 148 arts listserv contacts

TOTAL CONTACTS: 8,288

We have exceeded our target in this area for the past three years, thanks largely to increased activity on social media pages. Although we will once again adjust our future targets in the next Service Plan accordingly, increases to the number of anticipated communications contacts via social media is hard to predict, and accurate totals may be misleading as some followers and contacts are likely counted more than once. For these reasons, we will continue to maintain a gradual increase in our targets.

The data for this measure is provided by our communications contacts database and our social media reports.

2.3 Website traffic to all FPCC websites

PAST PERFORMANCE		2013/14 PERFORMANCE		FUTURE PERFORMANCE
2011/12	2012/13	TARGET	ACTUAL	2014/15	2015/16
465,557 Visits	576,337 Visits	380,000 Visits; 1,500 Downloads	676,797 Visits; 4,610 Downloads	385,000 Visits; 1,500 Downloads	390,000 Visits; 1,500 Downloads

DISCUSSION

Monitoring our website traffic is a valuable way to measure our ability to communicate our message. In 2010/2011 we switched from tracking hits to tracking visits, a methodology considered by experts to be a more accurate website measure.

In 2012/13, we launched the First Peoples Arts Map, which is now included in our tracking below.

In 2013/14, traffic to our websites was as follows:

Website Visits (tracking system)
 FirstVoices.com (main website): 414,925 (FW)
 FirstVoices.com (members' website): 33,271

⁴ Accurate as of April 24, 2014
⁵ Same as above

FirstVoices Kids: 85,075 (FW)
FirstVoices Language Tutor – Learner Website: 15,496 (FW)
FirstVoices Language Tutor – Builder Website: 15,018 (FW)
Fpcc.ca (FPCC main website): 37,160 (GA)
Maps.fphlcc.ca (Language Map): 70,995 (GA)
First Peoples Arts Map: 4,857

TOTAL VISITS: 676,797

FW = Funnel Web Analyzer GA = Google Analytics

The total number of visits exceeds the target number by more almost 300,000. We attribute this increase to the growing recognition of our organization and the work that is being done for First Nations languages, arts and cultures.

When examining the traffic to our individual sites, all but the FPCC main website and the language map experienced substantial increases in visits in 2013/14. Visits to the FPCC main site remained consistent with the previous year, whereas the Language Map saw a decrease of approximately 12%.

One site that received a spike in visits was the Language Tutor Builder website, which went from just over 4,000 visits in 2012/13 to more than 10,000 last year. This increase is accounted for by the level of activity with FirstVoices last year, whereby a number of participating communities focused their efforts on developing lessons using the tutor.

In addition to the number of visits to FPCC websites, in 2013/14 we started to measure the number of application downloads. We more than tripled our initial target of 1,500 app downloads and will revisit our targets for downloads in next year's service plan..

Data for this measure is provided through Google Analytics and Funnel Web Analyzer.

GOAL 3

To attract and retain a dedicated team of employees who contribute to the success of our organization and further our mandate.

STRATEGIES

- Provide a supportive working environment that fosters engagement, innovation and results
- Maximize use of limited resources

DISCUSSION OF GOAL AND STRATEGIES

This Goal was refined in the 2013/14 – 2015/16 Service Plan. It has a two-pronged strategic focus: on one hand to create a work environment that will encourage employee retention and satisfaction, and on the other to maximize the use of limited resources. There is one performance measure associated with this Goal.

3.1 Percentage of employees who say they are engaged or highly engaged

PAST PERFORMANCE		2013/14 PERFORMANCE		FUTURE PERFORMANCE
2011/12	2012/13	TARGET	ACTUAL	2014/15	2015/16
77%	78%	83%	N/A	85%	85%

DISCUSSION

Attracting and keeping engaged and motivated employees is essential to a well run and respected organization. Further, it depends on an efficient use of resources at hand.

We initially implemented and reported on this measure in 2011/12. The data used is gathered through an anonymous online survey. Staff participation is 100%. Although the survey is quite detailed, with 27 questions, based on the advice of our human resources consultant reporting is focused on eight questions, which are in turn based on eight key indicators used by the Conference Board of Canada as a barometer of employee engagement. We use the remaining 20 responses for our own internal planning.

At the start of 2013/14, we decided to do the survey every other year instead of annually, as we determined this would better show progress in this area. Accordingly, we have been implementing recommendations from last year's survey and continuing to work on team building. We will do the survey again in 2014/15 and will report on progress in the next Annual Report. Targets will be changed in the next Service Plan to reflect the change.

GOAL 4

To create a sustainable organization that attracts investments from a diverse base of funders.

STRATEGIES

- Develop and maintain good working relationships with our community partners, government funders and First Nations leadership
- Continue to develop the First Peoples' Cultural Council as a strategic, responsive, results based organization
- Attract investments and donations from provincial government ministries, the federal government, foundations and private sector partners
- Continue to seek resources to realize our goal of creating a First Peoples' Cultural Institute ⁶

DISCUSSION OF GOAL AND STRATEGIES

This goal was combined with goal three above in the previous year's Service Plan. This year, we have separated it out and further refined this goal to focus on sustainability via secure and diverse funding to our organization. Accordingly, performance measures relate to fundraising, leveraging and cost sharing opportunities realized throughout the year.

Fundraising is shared with our sister organization, the First Peoples' Cultural Foundation. Over the past two years, we have worked with the Foundation to build up its governance and capacity to fundraise and we look forward to the further work we can do together in this area.

DESCRIPTION AND RATIONALE FOR PERFORMANCE MEASURE TARGETS

In accordance with the revised goal, we have modified our performance measures somewhat to provide more clarity and so that they will relate directly to the goal as stated.

4.1 Number of active partnerships on programs and special events

PAST PERFORMANCE		2013/14 PERFORMANCE		FUTURE PERFORMANCE
2011/12	2012/13	TARGET	ACTUAL	2014/15	2015/16
7	N/A	7	16	7	7

DISCUSSION

This performance target measures new and ongoing funding opportunities that are provided to FPCC through our partners. Our target is based on performance in 2011/12, where we exceeded our target of five to establish seven active partnerships.

In 2013/14, we saw a spike in the number of active partnerships as we embarked on new projects with the Royal B.C. Museum and University of Victoria, and solidified working relationships with additional members of the Endangered Languages Project (ELP) Governance Council.

In 2014/15 and beyond, we don't expect a similar increase in active partnerships as our efforts will be more internally focused. However, we will review this target in the next Service Plan to ensure it reflects ongoing partnerships.

⁶ See page 39 for more information on the First Peoples' Cultural Institute

4.2 Contacts and meetings with potential funders

PAST PERFORMANCE		2013/14 PERFORMANCE		FUTURE PERFORMANCE
2011/12	2012/13	TARGET	ACTUAL	2014/15	2015/16
N/A	N/A	25-50	32	25-50	25-50

DISCUSSION

This new target measures the relationship building by way of direct contact and meetings that the Chair and Executive Director have with potential funders. We set the target at an ambitious 25-50 meetings and contacts per year. In 2013/14, we held and attended 32 such meetings, which is square in the middle of the target range. We will likely keep this target at a similar amount in upcoming years.

4.3 Revenue from both new and ongoing sources

PAST PERFORMANCE		2013/14 PERFORMANCE		FUTURE PERFORMANCE
2011/12	2012/13	TARGET	ACTUAL	2014/15	2015/16
Ongoing: $1.5M; New: $430K	Ongoing: $1.5M; New: $650K	Ongoing: $1.5M; New: $650K	Ongoing: $1.6M; New: $674,600	Ongoing: $1.5M; New: $650K	Ongoing: $1.5M; New: $650K

DISCUSSION

The successful realization of our mandate requires stable ongoing sources of revenue with which we can support our initiatives. This new performance target measures revenue from new as well as existing sources. It includes funds provided by way of cost-sharing, matching funds and leveraging.

In 2013/14, we were able to attract $674,600 in new funds from 12 sources. In doing so, we exceeded our target slightly.

PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS

FORMAL PROGRAM REVIEWS

Formal reviews are conducted by independent experts, using data collected from program applicants, needs assessments, focus groups, individual applicant interviews and peer review committee recommendations and interviews.

FEEDBACK FROM PEER REVIEW COMMITTEES

Peer review committees are convened to make decisions regarding funding of projects. These committees of community and language experts also provide annual recommendations regarding programs, delivery materials, criteria, etc.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE FEEDBACK

Advisory Committee members provide feedback on the administration and delivery of our programs in their territories. They also advise the Board on policy development.

COLLECTION AND ANALYSIS OF STATISTICS ON CLIENT USE OF SERVICES

The First Peoples' Cultural Council collects statistics and analyzes feedback to evaluate usage and effectiveness of its programming and communications tools. These include statistics on funding applications, website visits, media hits, document downloads and feedback from arts outreach workshops. Also available is an online "language needs assessment" that tracks speakers and identifies community resources that can assist with language revitalization.

ANNUAL PERFORMANCE REVIEWS

The Board reports to the Advisory Committee at the Annual General Meeting and gathers feedback. Management and staff undergo an annual formal review process and there is also an annual Board evaluation process.

BENCHMARKING

The First Peoples' Cultural Council has no identical organizations with which to compare itself. The most comparable is likely the Woodland Cultural Centre, located in Brantford, Ontario, which has a similar mandate and serves the same number of First Nations, but has just six languages to protect, as compared to the 34 languages and 61 dialects in B.C. served by the Council.

In 2009/10, we determined the history, mandate and programs run by the Centre and in 2010/11, we were able to find out that the Woodland Cultural Centre has 12 full-time staff, which is similar to the number employed by the Council.

The majority of the Centre's funding comes from the federal level through the Department of Indian and Northern Affairs. This is in contrast to FPCC, which is funded largely at the provincial level by government and First Nations.

In terms of governance, the Centre has three reps (a band councilor and community representatives) from each of three communities for a total of nine reps: the Wahta Mohawks, Six Nations of the Grand River and the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte. FPCC, by comparison, has representation on our Advisory Committee from all 34 First Nation languages in B.C.

DISCUSSION ON CAPACITY

In 2013/14, as in previous years, the greatest challenge we face to achieving our mandate is the limited access to resources. This challenge is compounded by the scope of work and ever-decreasing window to access and work with Elders in our communities, who keep the knowledge of their unique languages and cultures. We continue to seek additional sources of revenue to increase our capacity to support language revitalization; to date, we have not had the level of success that we have encountered with the arts. Based on current levels of funding, we will simply not be able to stabilize many of B.C.'s languages.

GOVERNMENT'S LETTER OF EXPECTATIONS

The Government's Letter of Expectations is an agreement between the First Peoples' Cultural Council and the Government of British Columbia. It defines the roles and responsibilities of each, and includes high-level performance expectations, public policy issues and strategic priorities. It is reviewed and updated cooperatively once per year by FPCC and the Government of British Columbia.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION & ANALYSIS

This discussion and analysis of the financial results from operations and financial position for the year ended March 31, 2014 should be read in conjunction with the audited financial statements and accompanying notes. Management has included some forward-looking statements, which we believe to be reasonable, based on information currently available, but these statements are subject to risks and uncertainties that may cause actual results to differ from those forward-looking statements.

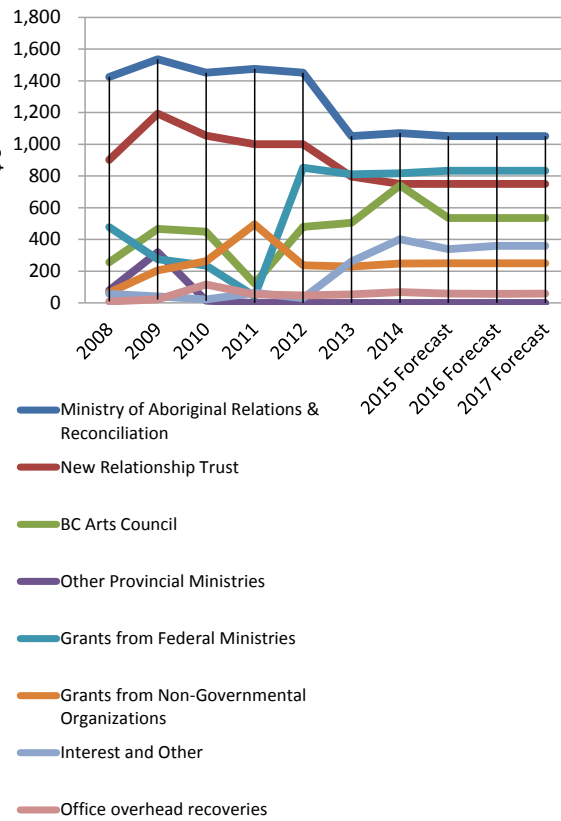

The Service Plan budget is a forecast approved by the Minister of Aboriginal Relations and Reconciliation. The Auditor's Report is unqualified and financial statements are considered to fairly represent the financial position and operations of the First Peoples' Cultural Council for the year ended March 31, 2014.

FPCC closed the year ended March 31, 2014 with a balanced budget on expenditures of $4,095,000. Table 1 provides a summary of operating results for the year (fiscal 2014) along with historical and forward-looking information. The forecast figures for 2015 through 2017 reflect the currently approved Service Plan for FPCC.

Service Plan Budget Forecast Versus Actuals

There were a few budget categories with variances from the Service Plan budget and the actuals. The commentary will only discuss those variances that are over 1% of the total gross budget for 2013/14. Due to the nature of how revenues flow into the organization, there are often updates to the approved Service Plan budget. Unlike other government departments with fixed budgets, FPCC acts as a non-profit and applies for funding by writing proposals throughout the fiscal year.

2013/14 Budget vs. Actual Comparison

This section is a comparison of actual results for 2013/14. Below we describe any variances over one percent of the 2013/14 gross budget. The Arts department received an increase of $260,000 from the BC Arts Council, including $200,000 for a new Arts Program for youth. An increase of $55,000 for the AADA program and funds for the ARTS Map and Arts Protocols Forum. FPCC delivered $117,000 more in grants due to multi year agreements some arts revenues were deferred to the next fiscal year.

Purchases Services increased significantly due to two special projects the “Cultural Protocols in the Arts Forum” and the “Our Living Languages Exhibit”. These projects increased the purchased services by $176,000.00. First Nations contractors were hired for both projects. Audio Visual experts were contracted to develop some of the content for the “Our Living Languages Exhibit”. The En’owkin Centre was contracted for the Arts Forum and funding was used to cover travel expenses for 50 participants.

2012/13 vs. 2013/14

This section is a comparison of previous years actual results for 2012/13 to the 2013/14 actuals. Below we describe any variances over one percent of the 2013/14 gross budget. As above there is an increase in Arts Program revenue of $235,000, which results in an increase of $229,000 in community grants from the previous year. There is an increase of $69,000 in Salary and Benefits due to staff returning from maternity leave and a new FTE attached to the special project funded by the RBCM “Our Living Language Exhibit”. There is a difference of $127,000 in Purchased Services due to the special projects.

Capital Expenditures

There were no significant capital expenditures for fiscal 2014 and additions consisted primarily of computer equipment replaced during the year.

Net Assets and Liquidity cash balances at March 31, 2014 amounted to $527,000 a decrease of $146,000 from the previous year.

MAJOR RISKS AND OPPORTUNITIES THAT AFFECTED FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE, THEIR IMPACT ON FINANCIAL RESULTS AND HOW THE IMPACT WAS MANAGED OR MITIGATED

Increased Revenue in the Arts

The FPCC arts program has been attracting additional investments from funders. The FPCC arts department launched the new Aboriginal Youth in the Arts program this year through new funding from the BC Arts Council, a long-standing partner of FPCC. The Arts department has been working closely with the Margaret A. Cargill Foundation to ensure delivery of the new resources that were committed for three years for existing programs and outreach to artists.

Capacity in Language Programming

The FirstVoices program is stressed to maintain operations and upgrade technologies as the funding agencies that previously contributed to FirstVoices have discontinued their technology funding programs. Though we have excellent staff in place they are spread thin and with increasing demand for access to FirstVoices it is unlikely we can maintain the same level of quality services our stakeholders have come to expect. FPCC is actively seeking partnerships to support this important work, which is key to ensuring First Nations languages are documented before all the fluent speakers have left us.

Internal Organizational Capacity to Manage Data

Reporting requirements continue to be a challenge for a small organization with a modest budget to manage programs and accountabilities. The issue is difficult to mitigate as many funding partners invest in FPCC programs but do not contribute funds to support the administrative capacity of the organization. Yet the demand for program specific data from funders is increasing as funders have many worthy organizations competing for their support and they require additional detailed data on the impact there is funding having in communities. The reporting requirement pressures can be mitigated by using technology for data collection and analysis. FPCC has researched possible partners for the development of a database but currently lacks the finances to realize a data system.

Increasing Demand for Community-Based Funding

As the FPCC program and services become more well know to our stakeholders and communities

there is additional pressure on FPCC resources. In 2007, we started new immersion programs with pilot funding and in 2014 we are still at the same funding levels. It is very difficult to provide the programming and support services required to ensure every community has an opportunity to revitalize their arts and language programs. We are able to provide 72 grants per year and do our best to ensure at least the 34 language groups are considered for a grant. The FPCC Board and Advisory committee are supporting management to update and move forward with the business plan for additional investment in community-based programming.

Use of Technology

With our community partners, we are investing in new tools and technology to support First Nations to document and teach their languages. We are making these tools available to as many First Nations communities as possible. These tools connect the younger generations with their First Nations languages and include the online First Voices Language Tutor, and applications for the iPhone, iPad and iPod touch. FPCC apps have been a great investment and are connecting the younger generations to their languages and our organization.

OVERVIEW OF THE INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL BUSINESS AND POLICY ENVIRONMENT AFFECTING FINANCIAL OPERATIONS OVER THE PAST YEAR

Partnerships have been key to assisting FPCC to achieve its mandate this past year and will continue to be a focus of our approach in delivering our programs and services. The “Our Living Languages Exhibit” FPCC developed in partnership with RBCM will increase the visibility of our organization and the work of BC First Nations language champions and artists in BC and Canada. ATBC is also a new partner and we hope to work more with them to support First Nations artists through joint workshops and cross-marketing our initiatives. The ongoing support and partnerships FPCC staff have with First Nations artists, language champions and cultural experts contribute to the quality of our programs and services on a daily basis. Without the support of the BC First Nations communities FPCC would not be able to deliver its mandate.

MANAGEMENT PERSPECTIVE ON FUTURE FINANCIAL OUTLOOK COVERING AT LEAST THE THREE-YEAR PERIOD LISTED IN THE SERVICE PLAN

See Summary of Financial Results for funding estimates for the next three years.

FPCC is pleased to be delivering the funding from the Department of Canadian Heritage for the Aboriginal Languages Initiative. This significant investment in community-based language revitalization efforts has positively impacted the capacity and language revitalization in B.C First Nations communities. We anticipate that our long-standing partnerships with Ministry of Aboriginal Relations and Reconciliation, the BC Arts Council, and the New Relationship Trust will continue and we hope we can successfully meet the requirements of new funders. However, there are no long-term contracts in place and FPCC has no guaranteed funding, as all funds are proposal driven.

FPCC will use the updated Status of BC Languages Report, which will launch in 2014, to educate policy makers and build a business case for an investment in First Nations languages. As more evidence is available linking the benefits of immersion education and strengthening communities through culture, the case for investment in cultural programming becomes very clear.

The long-term financial forecast does not anticipate much growth in the economy. FPCC anticipates that fundraising will continue to be a challenge and be very competitive. We will likely need to invest in additional expertise and marketing to raise the profile of our work and the work of BC First Nations communities in meeting the challenge of arts and language cultural revitalization.

CULTURAL INSTITUTE

FUTURE VISION FOR THE ORGANIZATION

Establishment of a First Peoples' Cultural Institute

Even with the economic uncertainty we are now facing, we are determined to realize our vision for a centre that will continue to raise the profile of First Nations arts, languages and cultures in British Columbia.

The First Peoples' Board of Directors envisions the First Peoples' Cultural Institute as B.C.'s version of the Smithsonian Institute—a First Nations-run centre that attracts positive attention from around the world for the government of B.C. and its policies of reconciliation. However, it would be unique in that it would not be a museum in the traditional sense, but a demonstration of living First Nations cultures. This vision for the future clearly ties together all of the goals that have been outlined in this Annual Report.

The Institute would house FPCC in a new space that would include an art gallery, recording facilities, offices and working space for learning and passing on cultural knowledge—an incubator for cultural expression and the development of cultural experts, and an international showcase of B.C. First Nations' cultures. It would also expand and enhance the arts, culture and language programming of the Council to fulfill its complete mandate.

While the Institute would serve First Nations communities, cultural centres, Elders and artists, it would also importantly provide opportunities for First Nations youth to forge deeper connections with their heritage, arts, language and culture. This is key to the survival of First Nation's cultural and linguistic practices in B.C.

In order to achieve this important vision, FPCC needs to build capacity within the current organization. Institutions such as the Royal B.C. Museum and the Museum of Anthropology are able to raise millions of dollars from public and private sources because they have infrastructure in place. In fiscal 2012/13, we announced that we will be partnering with the Royal BC Museum on a First Nations Languages Exhibition, which will launch at the museum on June 21, 2014, National Aboriginal Day. This project will demonstrate FPCC expertise to funders and partners and will strengthen our ability to fulfill our full mandate and deliver even more successful programming as legislated by the government of B.C. for all First Nations in the province.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Members of First Peoples' Heritage, Language & Culture Council

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of First Peoples' Heritage, Language & Culture Council, which comprise the statement of financial position as at March 31, 2014 and the statements of operations, change in net financial assets and cash flows for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Independent Auditor's Report to the Members of First Peoples' Heritage, Language & Culture Council

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of First Peoples' Heritage, Language & Culture Council as at March 31, 2014 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

FIRST PEOPLES' HERITAGE, LANGUAGE & CULTURE COUNCIL

Notes to Financial Statements

Year Ended March 31, 2014

1. PURPOSE OF THE ORGANIZATION

The First Peoples' Heritage, Language and Culture Council ("the Council") is a Crown Corporation, established under the First Peoples' Heritage, Language and Culture Act and is an agent of the Crown. The Council commenced operations April 1, 1991. The mission of the Council is as follows:

- To preserve, restore and enhance First Nations' heritage, language, and culture;
- To increase understanding and sharing of knowledge, within both First Nations' and non-First Nations' communities; and
- To heighten appreciation and acceptance of the wealth of cultural diversity among British Columbians.

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

(a) Conversion to Public Sector Accounting Standards

Commencing with the 2011/2012 fiscal year, the Council has adopted Canadian public sector accounting standards.

(b) Amortization

Rates and bases of amortization applied to write off the cost less estimated salvage value of capital assets over their estimated lives are as follows:

Leasehold improvements	7 years, straight-line
Furniture and equipment	5 years, straight-line
Computers	3 years, straight-line
Computer software	3 years, straight-line

No amortization has been taken on the Art Collection.

(c) Revenue Recognition

The Council follows the deferral method of accounting for contributions. Restricted contributions are recognized as revenue in the year in which the related expenses are incurred. Unrestricted contributions are recognized as revenue when received or receivable if the amount to be received can be reasonably estimated and collection is reasonably assured.

(d) Donated Services and Materials

Donated materials are recorded both as donations and expenses at their fair value when fair value can be reasonably estimated. Donated services are not recorded in the financial statements, as they cannot be reasonably estimated. The Council also receives a number of volunteer hours from the Board of Directors, which have not been recognized, due to the difficulty of estimating their value.

FIRST PEOPLES' HERITAGE, LANGUAGE & CULTURE COUNCIL

Year Ended March 31, 2014

(e) Use of Estimates

In preparing the Council's financial statements, management is required to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

(f) Financial Instruments

The Council's financial instruments consist of cash, receivables, payables and accruals. Unless otherwise noted, it is management's opinion that the Council is not exposed to significant interest, currency or credit risks arising from these financial instruments. The fair value of these financial instruments approximates their carrying values, unless otherwise noted.

3. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The Council's directors are appointed by the Minister of Aboriginal Relations and Reconciliation from the Advisory Committee which has tribal council representatives from First Nations across the province of British Columbia. It is, therefore, inevitable that there will be grants made to a community within a tribal council that a Council member represents. A standard application and peer review process ensuring that there is not a conflict of interest is followed in all cases to determine which communities are awarded grants.

The First Peoples' Heritage, Language and Culture Council is related through common ownership to all Province of British Columbia ministries, agencies and Crown corporations. Transactions with these entities are made under normal operational terms and conditions.
